

Prayer Warriors in Louisville, KY

Weekday and Saturday mornings Prayer Warriors line up on the sidewalk outside the EMW abortion facility on Second and Main streets in Louisville, KY to pray for an end to the slaughter of the innocents. Rain or shine, warm or unbearably cold, Prayer Warriors are there. Unfortunately, child killing is legal in Louisville, KY.

Saturday morning has the most Prayer Warriors and escorts. Understandably, the escorts are referred to by the Prayer Warriors as “deathscorts”.

EMW starts taking their clients at 7am. It is sad to see mothers going into that place to kill their children. Usually they are accompanied by the child’s father. These fathers do not have the decency or humanity to support or defend their own child. They let a butcher tear their child apart. A father is supposed to protect his family and most certainly his children. But these particular fathers just want to get rid of the “problem” they themselves created. Despicable! A man who really loves a woman will not opt to have their child killed. He will protect and love them both.

A mother who would allow her child to be killed is particularly grievous. Some of these mothers are coerced or threatened by the child’s father. Others just don’t want to own up to responsibility. In all cases though, it is simple selfishness that leads to the daily slaughter that happens at the EMW facility.

Then there are the parents of the mother or father who take her there. These grandparents are having their own grandchild killed. Unconscionable! This is so very sad.

We pray to stop abortion, for the aborted babies and for those who have abortions and aid in abortions. Our prayers are needed for all of these.

In fact, perverse men love legalized abortion. Abortion allows these despicable men to use women without fear of responsibility or commitment. Abortion also provides a means of covering up rape of young girls. “Choice” is the user’s and the abuser’s best friend.

Abortion is wrong, abortion is murder, abortion is hideous, abortion is a crime against humanity. This is a fact.

There are options available so there is no valid excuse for abortion. So many couples are lined up waiting to adopt. Many of the Prayer Warriors offer to adopt these children, but are turned down. What kind of parent would choose a horrible death for his/her child over life? Nobody has to keep an unwanted child. Nobody.

Pro-choicers claim it is about a woman’s health. It is not! In our medically advanced society, abortion is not necessary to save a mother’s life and such life threatening circumstances are very rare. Danger to the mother’s life, incest, deformity, disability and rape account for less than 3% of reasons for getting an abortion. The rest are all healthy children being killed by selfish parents. Of course, abortion for any reason is wrong. It is not about women’s lives or their health. Remember the pro-choice motto: “Every child a wanted child”. That’s because they kill the unwanted children.

At the abortion mill on these mornings Prayer Warriors pray, counselors try to council those going into the mill, others read their bibles, some just stand silently. The escorts work very hard to keep the mothers going into the mill from being informed. They block and push the counselors, threaten them, call them names and make false police reports (which go nowhere because they are false). In all this the counselors don't give up. They are troopers.

Among the escorts is a small hard core of dedicated abortion supporters who are usually there. These are where the brunt of mockery, threats and foul mouthed attacks come from. They will tell Prayer Warriors that they are breaking the law by standing at a spot on the side walk, but that is just a lie. Prayers Warriors don't block anybody from going into the mill, the escorts do when they surround those going in. It is not illegal to stand on the side walk or even to stand in front of the door when nobody is trying to enter. These actions are perfectly legal. We know it and we do not let the escorts or mill employees fool us. These escorts are very angry, mean people. Not nice at all. When people have that Spirit, that's the way they are. The escorts work very hard to protect the abortion mill's profits and keep the innocent blood flowing.

The rest of the escorts are made up primarily of young people who come once in a while or come once or twice and never come back. It is easy to see that among this group are young people just looking for acceptance and group approval. They feel, for now anyway, that they have found it with the mill escorting crowd. Some look like they just want something to do. Some are polite and friendly if you talk to them, some not so much. But all are misguided. They especially need our prayers.

Mothers with unintended pregnancies need to understand that there is help, whether they want to keep their baby or give the child up for adoption. Help continues to be available after the child is born as long as it is needed. Adoption services are available for those who want the adoption option. Financial, educational, occupational and a variety of other services are available to mothers who want to keep their child. Money is not an issue. There is always help and there is always compassion. Women deserve better than abortion. Women deserve better than partners, family and friends who push them to do something that they will regret later, but cannot undo.

Unborn children are human beings and they are alive. They have committed no crime and are unable to defend themselves. They depend on their parents to defend them, but so many parents will not.
